

Keertimukha: The Mythical Guardian of Protection and Power

Keertimukha, a mystical and powerful symbol found in Hindu and Buddhist traditions, is more than just an artistic depiction. This fierce yet divine face holds deep spiritual significance and is commonly seen on temple entrances, metal wall hangings, and sacred artifacts. If you are looking for an exquisite representation of Keertimukha, the Salvus App Solutions Metal Narsingh Black Face Wall Hanging (5.5x4 inches) is a stunning choice that brings the energy of protection and auspiciousness into your space.

Understanding the Significance of Keertimukha

Keertimukha, often translated as the "Face of Glory," has a fascinating origin in Hindu mythology. According to legend, this iconic figure was created by Lord Shiva to humble a demon named Rahu. As the story goes, Shiva commanded Rahu to consume himself, and in doing so, the terrifying yet divine face of Keertimukha emerged. This symbolizes the destruction of ego, greed, and negativity while protecting sacred spaces from evil forces.
